-Right to request information:

You may request information about the processing of your personal information at any time in written form, such as:

- what personal information is being processed
- the legal basis on which we process your personal data
- the purpose for which we process your personal data
- the source from which we process your personal data

- how long we process your personal data
- what data management rights apply to you
- whether we will pass on your personal data and to whom

-Right to rectification:

You have the right to have inaccurate personal data about you rectified by the University upon request.

-Right of cancellation:

You may request in writing that the Data Controller erase your personal data if:

- (a) the personal data are no longer necessary for the purposes for which they were collected or otherwise processed
- (b) the data subject has withdrawn his or her consent to the processing of the personal data
- (c) the data subject objects to the processing on the basis of Article 21(1) of the GDPR Regulation and there are no overriding legitimate grounds for the processing, or the data subject objects to the processing on the basis of Article 21(2)

-Right to restriction:

At the written request of the Data Subject

- a) the Data Subject debates the accuracy of the personal data, in which case the restriction shall apply for a period which allows the Data Controller to verify the accuracy of the personal data;
- b) the processing is unlawful and the Data Subject opposes the deletion of the data and instead requests that their use be restricted;
- c) the data controller no longer needs the personal data for the purpose of data processing, but the Data Subject requests them in order to submit, enforce or protect legal claims

Your request for a restriction on data processing must also indicate the reason for requesting the restriction.

-Right to protest:

You have the right to object to data processing based on a legitimate interest for reasons related to your own situation. In this case, the University will investigate your personal data processing on the basis of a balance of interests and, if your request is found to be well-founded, we will delete your personal data. We will inform you of the result of the investigation in every case.

-Right to withdraw voluntary consent:

Your consent to data management can be withdrawn at any time, and you can also request the deletion of your uploaded data if your consent is withdrawn. Withdrawal of consent shall not affect the legality of the data processing prior to withdrawal.

-Common rules of practice:

The University shall, without undue delay, provide information in written form, in an accessible format, within one month of the reception of the application, on the measure taken in response to the application, or on its rejection and reason. If necessary, taking into account the complexity of the application and the number of applications, this period may be extended by a further two months.

8. Your law enforcement options:

If you consider that the data processing is unlawful, you can apply to the Hungarian National Authority for Data Protection and Freedom of Information (NAIH) or a court as follows:

-Notification of the competent authority

If you consider that the processing of your personal data – or the exercise of your rights to access public data or data of public interest – has been infringed or is in danger, you may initiate an investigation with the supervisory authority:
